Louis Jérôme Wagenbrenner

Louis is a sensitive and passionate person — and a nerd. He owns a vast Blu-ray collection, and only films that still convince him after at least three or four viewings make the cut for the shelf. The imagination and creative power that live inside cinema have fascinated Louis since childhood and struck a chord in him that made it clear early on where his career would lead — to acting. At the same time, Louis is hands-on and equally passionate about craft work and botany. He happily turns his hands to carpentry, tiling, electrical work, or gardening. Louis is a genuinely good listener, funny, and sometimes pleasantly provocative — so it's never boring with him. His enthusiasm for good stories is simply inspiring, and contagious.
